Oisín Gallagher is an Irish artist based at Edinburgh Sculpture Workshop, whose practice manifests itself primarily in sculpture and performative happenings. Often working collaboratively, his sculptures support and facilitate the work of other artists, curators, and performers, and is influenced by his ongoing work as an art handler and fabricator for galleries and museums.

Furniture making and design in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Over the past nine months, Oisín has been able to focus exclusively on furniture making and design. Under the name 'Settle', he creates unique furniture pieces that combine the contemporary with traditional Irish vernacular styles.
